DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on February 02, 2006 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1, 3-7, 10-11, 13-15 and 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Seamon (Pub. No. US 2002/0121322). Seamon discloses a pocket for business accessory comprising: a flap (11) joined along a base edge, a pair of side edges and a front edge; and a pair of elastic strips (elastic webbing 14, the mere fact that the webbing 14 can be stretch as shown in Figures 2-4 embodiment and then go back to its original length and shape as shown in Figure 1, i.e. is capable of recovering size and shape after deformation, implies that the webbing 14 is elastic) connected between each side near the front edge and a location on the business accessory so that portions of the side edge, between the base edge and the elastic are free of attachment with the business accessory. Seamon discloses that the pocket can be an open pocket having no closures, i.e. can be maintained in its un-extended position without a closure. See Figures 1-4 embodiments.

The pocket of Seamon clearly appears to be tapered between a wider length at the base edge and a narrower length at the front edge, see Figure 1 embodiment. With the pocket having no closures the side edges will inherently have a recessed shape that can reveal the item being held therein.

With respect to claims 10, 17 and 20, note the base piece (inner wall 15) defining a perimeter seam with respect to a surrounding surface of the business accessory.

With respect to claim 19, the open recess will inherently shown the items being held in the exterior pocket.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 8 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being obvious over Seamon.

With respect to claim 8, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to in view of the admitted prior art of to provide a patch having a decoration on the flap to make the business accessory aesthetically more pleasing to the consumer.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed August 12, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Contrary to applicant's argument the pocket of Seamon does not need a conventional closure to close the pocket and it will stay in its un-extended position without any closure.

The fact that the pair of side edges are only joined to the exterior by a strip of webbing will inherently have un-joined section in the side edges which will form recesses.
